

The content of the campaign site www.gantcitybike.nl has been compiled with the greatest care and attention.

In spite of this, the information on this website may be out of date or contain inaccuracies. GANT can in no way be held liable for any damages that may result directly or indirectly from the use of the information made available on this campaign site.

This disclaimer is not intended as an attempt to exclude those cases in which the exclusion of liability is not permitted under Dutch law.

Should you wish to use the information on this campaign site, you must obtain the prior written permission of GANT.

Framing this campaign site is not permitted.

We do not consider ourselves to be responsible or liable for access to or information on any site that is connected or linked to or from this campaign site.

The General Conditions and Game Conditions of the Gant City Bike Campaign 2010 are based on Dutch legislation.